As part of the Government of Ontario's energy expansion strategy, Neoen is exploring development of a 400-megawatt battery storage project in the Bruce-Grey Region.

This proposed project would help supply clean, reliable energy to some 385,000 households—strengthening the provincial power grid while delivering long-term economic growth and local job creation.

Neoen is looking to engage with residents in the Town of Saugeen Shores to share information and gather feedback about the project.
